

“SAMSKRIT DAY -2021”

World Samskrit Dinam/Day falls on Shravan Purnima & Samskrit Saptah/Week is celebrated Every Year three days before and after the Shravana purnima. Board of Ayurveda, NCISM took this initiative to celebrate Sanskrit Week/Sanskrit day through Sanskrit Evam Samhita Siddhanta department at the Ayurveda Institutions as a regular Departmental activity every year.

Sanskrit is often referred to as a language of great importance and is made of the words sám, meaning together, good, well, perfected, and kṛta, meaning made, formed, and work. Hence Samskrit connotes something that is well-formed or perfected.

We, at GSAMCH, Department of Ayurveda Samhita & Siddhant, celebrated Samskrit Day on 25.08.2021 through various activities like Shloka Writing, Recitation, Songs, Skit, Antakshari with the shlokas by the students. This really gave all the Ayurveda Students a new motivation & inspiration to learn vast language Samskrit.

The Event was Graced by the esteemed presence of Mrs. Sonali Sharma, Managing Director, GSAMCH. The event started by seeking the blessings of Lord Dhanvantri through Dhanvantri Vandna by Dr. Vasavi Jhakar, Asst. Professor, Department of Ayurveda Samhita & Siddhant, GSAMCH, who welcomed the dignitaries and Students. The session was moderated by Dr. Chandan Singh, Asso. Professor, Department of Ayurveda Samhita Siddhant, GSAMCH.

Prof. (Dr.) Seema Jain, HOD, Department of Ayurveda Samhita & Siddhant, GSAMCH shared her valuable knowledge with the students & faculty members and highlighted Samskrit as a scientific language that is ideal for computer science. She also sensitized the students by elucidating the global admiration for the language. The celebration received overwhelming support from Sudents & Faculty members as well.

The session was followed by remarks by Prof. (Dr.) Bhavna Singh, Principal, GSAMCH & Vote of thanks by Dr. Minakshi Patle, Assistant Professor, Department of Ayurveda Samhita & Siddhant, GSAMCH.

All appreciated & supported the measures adopted by the Commission (NCISM) to uplift the standards of Ayurved education in every aspect.
